

CCUS

Achim Raska, Head of the department on Technology and Markets at the nova-Institut in Hürth

Achim Raschka is Head of the department on Technology and Markets at the nova-Institut in Hürth, Germany. As biologist by education he is responsible for the area of industrial biotechnology and bio-based materials, since about five years he is also active in the field of Carbon Dioxide Utilization. He is responsible for the international Conference on CO₂ as feedstock for fuels, chemicals and polymers for the 5th year in a row, that will take place in Cologne in December 2016.