

Silvio Matassa – Industrial PhD researcher – Avecom

holds a master in environmental engineering obtained in 2013 at the university of Cassino (Italy). From 2014 he is an industrial PhD researcher at Avecom NV (Gent, Belgium). His research activity focuses on biological resource recovery from wastewater, spanning from fundamental microbiology to technical and applied engineering solutions. He is directly involved in the development of the Power-to-Protein project.